USE OF PROCEEDS

We estimate that we will receive net proceeds of approximately $492,2 from the sale of the Notes offered by this prospectus suppler underwriting discounts and our other expenses related to this offering. We intend to use the net proceeds, together with cash on hand, to $500 million term loan. Our $500 million term loan matures in October 2011 and may be extended at our option to October 2012. The loan is LIBOR plus 50 basis points, subject to certain conditions, and is currently fixed at 5.24% per annum through an interest rate swi underwriters of this offering are lenders under the term loan and, upon application of the net proceeds of this offering, will receive their of term loan repaid. Pending application of the net proceeds as described above, we may invest the proceeds in short-term securities.

In conjunction with the repayment of the $500 million term loan, we will dedesignate an interest rate swap associated with the term charge of approximately $30 million in the second quarter of 2011. This charge represents the reclassification of accumulated other cor the interest rate swap previously reflected in our balance sheet. We intend to settle the liability associated with the swap obligation with 17 months. Upon the dedesignation of this interest rate swap, we are required to reflect immediately in earnings as either a gain or loss value of this instrument, which will terminate no later than October 2012. The repayment of the term loan is also expected to result in of approximately $0.5 million in the second quarter of 2011 to write-off associated unamortized loan origination costs.

RATIO OF EARNINGS TO FIXED CHARGES

The ratio of earnings to fixed charges for each of our last five fiscal years and the three months ended March 31, 2011 are presented earnings to fixed charges by dividing earnings by fixed charges. For this purpose, earnings have been calculated by adding fixed charge operations before income taxes. Fixed charges consist of interest costs, the interest portion of rental expense, other than on capital lease interest factor in this rental expense, the amortization of debt discounts and deferred financing charges and preferred distributions of su

Restrictions on Ownership

In order for us to qualify as a REIT, under the Internal Revenue Code, not more than 50% in value of our outstanding capital shares indirectly, by five or fewer individuals or entities during the last half of a taxable year. In addition, our capital shares must be beneficial during at least 335 days of a taxable year of 12 months, or during a proportionate part of a shorter taxable year.

Because our board believes it is essential for us to continue to qualify as a REIT, our declaration of trust provides, in general, no hol by virtue of the attribution provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, more than 9.8% of our total outstanding capital shares. Any transfer would:

- create a direct or indirect ownership of shares in excess of 9.8% of our total outstanding capital shares;
- result in shares being owned by fewer than 100 persons;
- result in our being "closely held" within the meaning of Section 856(h) of the Internal Revenue Code; or
- result in our disqualification as a REIT.

If any person owns or is deemed to own more than 9.8% of our total outstanding capital shares, the shares exceeding this ownership to be transferred to us. We will act as trustee of a trust for the exclusive benefit of the transferees to whom these shares may ultimately 9.8% ownership limit. While in trust, these shares will not be entitled to participate in dividends or other distributions and, except as recovered to vote. We will have the right, for a period of 90 days during the time any securities are held by us in trust, to purchase all or any portioning shareholder at the lesser of the price paid for the shares and the market price of the shares on the date we exercise our option to representing capital shares will bear a legend referring to the restrictions described above.

Table of Contents

These restrictions on ownership may have the effect of precluding acquisition of control unless the board and shareholders determin is no longer in our best interests.

Shareholder Liability

Our declaration of trust provides that no shareholder will be personally or individually liable in any manner whatsoever for any debt incurred by us or our board. A shareholder will be under no obligation to us or to our creditors with respect to such shares, other than the amount of the consideration for which such shares were issued or to be issued. ## FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS AND CONSEQUENCES OF YOUR INVESTM

The following is a general summary of the material federal income tax considerations associated with an investment in the securities law. It is not tax advice and presents general information only. The summary does not deal with particular types of securityholders subj Internal Revenue Code, such as insurance companies, financial institutions and broker-dealers. In addition, the summary is not exhaustic considerations. Your actual tax consequences as a taxpayer can be complicated and will depend on your specific situation, including vashould consult your own tax advisor for a full understanding of the tax consequences of the purchase, holding and sale of the securities, advisor to determine the effect of any potential changes in applicable tax laws. The Internal Revenue Code provisions governing the fed REITs are highly technical and complex, and the summary is qualified in its entirety by the applicable Internal Revenue Code provision promulgated thereunder, and administrative and judicial interpretations thereof. The following discussion is based upon current law and concerning our compliance with the requirements for qualification as a REIT.

We urge you, as a prospective investor, to consult your own tax advisor with respect to the specific federal, state, local, foreign and the purchase, holding and sale of our securities.

We have elected to be taxed as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code since our taxable year ended December 31, 1993. We belie have operated in a manner that qualifies for taxation as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code. We also believe that we will continue preserve our status as a REIT. We cannot, however, assure you that these requirements will be met in the future.

We have not requested a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service regarding our REIT status. However, we have received an opinio Bissell & Liddell LLP to the effect that:

- we have met the requirements for qualification and taxation as a REIT for each taxable year commencing with the taxable ye
- our diversity of equity ownership, operations through the date of the opinion and proposed method of operation should allow taxable year ending December 31, 2009; and
- the discussion regarding "Federal Income Tax Considerations and Consequences of Your Investment" set forth in this section matters of law or legal conclusions, is correct in all material respects.

The opinion is expressed as of its date and Locke Lord Bissell & Liddell LLP has no obligation to advise us of any change in application represented or assumed, after the date of this opinion.

You should be aware that opinions of counsel are not binding upon the Internal Revenue Service or any court. Our opinion of couns representations and covenants made by us regarding the past, present and future conduct of our business operations. Furthermore, our ocontinued qualification as a REIT is conditioned upon, and our continued qualification as a REIT will depend on, our ability to meet, the results, the various REIT qualification tests under the Internal Revenue Code.

In addition, we cannot assure you that new legislation, regulations or administrative interpretations will not change the tax laws with REIT or any other matter discussed herein.

Federal Income Taxation of the Company

As long as we qualify for taxation as a REIT, we generally will not be subject to federal corporate income taxes on that portion of or that is currently distributed to shareholders. The REIT provisions of the Internal Revenue Code generally allow us to deduct dividends deduction for dividends paid to shareholders substantially eliminates the federal "double taxation" of earnings generally applicable to corporations. When we use the term "double taxation," we refer to taxation of corporate income at two levels, to the corporation must pay tax on the income it has earned and taxation again at the shareholder level when the shareholder pays taxes or the corporation's income in the way of dividends. Additionally, a REIT may elect to retain and pay taxes on a designated amount of its which case the shareholders of the REIT will include their proportionate share of the undistributed long-term capital gains in income ar their share of the tax paid by the REIT.

Even if we qualify for taxation as a REIT, we will be subject to federal income tax as follows:

- We will be taxed at regular corporate rates on our undistributed REIT taxable income, including undistributed net capital gain
- Under some circumstances, we may be subject to the "alternative minimum tax" as a consequence of our items of tax prefere
  - We will be taxed at the highest corporate rate on our net income from the sale or other disposition of "foreclosure property" to customers in the ordinary course of business and other non-qualifying income from foreclosure property. Foreclosure property and any personal property incident to real property acquired through foreclosure or deed in lieu of foreclosure.
- We will be subject to a 100% tax on any net income from prohibited transactions, which are, in general, sales or other dispos sale to customers in the ordinary course of business, other than foreclosure property.
- If we fail to satisfy the 75% or 95% gross income test under the REIT provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, but have main REIT, we will be subject to a tax equal to the greater of the excess of 95% of our gross income over the amount of our gross for purposes of the 95% test or the excess of 75% of our gross income over the amount of our gross income that is qualifying test, multiplied by a fraction intended to reflect our profitability.
- If we fail, in more than a de minimis fashion, to satisfy one or more of the asset tests under the REIT provisions of the Interna a taxable year, but nonetheless continue to qualify as a REIT because we qualify under certain relief provisions, we may be reasonable of $50,000 or a tax computed at the highest corporate rate on the amount of net income generated by the assets causing the father the assets are disposed of or we otherwise return to compliance with the asset test.
- If we fail to satisfy one or more of the requirements for REIT qualification under the REIT provisions of the Internal Revenu or the asset tests), we nevertheless may avoid termination of our REIT election in such year if the failure is due to reasonable neglect and we pay a penalty of $50,000 for each failure to satisfy the REIT qualification requirements.
- If we fail to distribute during each year at least the sum of (a) 85% of our ordinary income for such year, (b) 95% of our capi and (c) any undistributed taxable income from prior periods, we will be subject to a 4% excise tax on the excess of the require actually distributed.
- If (a) we acquire any asset from a C corporation, which is a corporation subject to full corporate level tax, in a carryover-basis subsequently recognize gain on the disposition of this asset during the 10-year period beginning on the date on which we acquire the fair market value of the asset as of the beginning of the 10-year period over our adjusted basis in the asset at that time will regular corporate rate, under guidelines issued by the Internal Revenue Service.

Income Tests. In general, in order to qualify as a REIT, we must derive at least 95% of our gross income, excluding gross income from real estate sources and from dividends, interest and gain from the sale or disposition of stock or securities or from any combination of the at least 75% of our gross income, excluding gross income from prohibited transactions, from investments relating to real property or more rents from real property, interest on obligations secured by mortgages on real property and, in particular circumstances, interest from particular circumstances, interest from particular circumstances, interest from particular circumstances, interest from the sale of securities, gain from prohibited transactions and gain from the sale or other disposition of real property held for less than four years apart and sales of foreclosure property must have represented less than 30% of our gross income including gross income from prohibited transpart.

Rent derived from leases will be qualifying income under the REIT requirements, provided several requirements are satisfied. First, giving us a share of the income or profits of the lessee. Second, the rent attributable to personal property that is leased in connection wi exceed 15% of the total rent received under the lease. If so, the portion of rent attributable to the personal property will not qualify as redetermine the rent attributable to personal property that is leased in connection with a lease of real property is based on relative fair man received from a related party tenant will not qualify as rents from real property. For these purposes, a tenant will be a related party tena indirectly, actually or constructively, owns 10% or more of the tenant. However, we may lease property to a taxable REIT subsidiary at subsidiary will not be disqualified from being rents from real property by reason of our ownership interest in the subsidiary. We can avthe related party rent rules so long as at least 90% of the leased space of the property is rented to persons who are not related parties or taxable REIT subsidiary pays commercially reasonable rent which is substantially comparable to the rent paid by third parties. A taxable corporation other than a REIT in which a REIT directly or indirectly holds stock and that has made a joint election with the REIT to be subsidiary. A taxable REIT subsidiary will be subject to federal income tax at regular corporate rates. Fourth, the REIT generally must or furnish or render services to tenants. However, the REIT may provide customary services or provide non-customary services through adequately compensated and from whom the REIT derives no income or a taxable REIT subsidiary. Also, the REIT may provide non-c its properties as long as the income from the provision of these services with regard to each property does not exceed 1% of all amounts property. The REIT may provide or furnish non-customary services through a taxable REIT subsidiary. Finally, all leases must also qua income tax purposes, and not as service contracts, joint ventures or other types of arrangements.

We have not charged, and do not anticipate charging, rent that is based in whole or in part on the income or profits of any person. We anticipate deriving, rent attributable to personal property leased in connection with real property that exceeds 15% of the total rents.

We have provided and will provide services with respect to our multifamily apartment communities. If we fail to satisfy one or both of the 75% or 95% gross income tests for any taxable year, we may nevertheless qualify as a REIT for relief under the Internal Revenue Code. These relief provisions generally will be available if:

- our failure to meet these tests was due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect; and
- we file a description of each item in our gross income in accordance with the regulations prescribed by Treasury.

It is not possible, however, to state whether, in all circumstances, we would be entitled to the benefit of these relief provisions. For egross income tests because nonqualifying income that we intentionally incur exceeds the limits on such income, the Internal Revenue S failure to satisfy the tests was not due to reasonable cause. As discussed above, even if these relief provisions apply, a tax would be impincome.

Asset Tests. On the last day of each calendar quarter, we must meet four tests concerning the nature of our assets. First, at least 75% generally must consist of real estate assets, cash, cash items and government securities. For this purpose, "real estate assets" include int loans secured by mortgages on real property or by certain interests in real property, shares in other REITs and particular options, but ex interests. The temporary investment of new capital in debt instruments also qualifies under this 75% asset test, but only for the one-year receive the new capital. Typically, our REIT taxable income is less than our cash flow due to the allowance of depreciation and other noncash charges in con Accordingly, we anticipate that we will generally have sufficient cash or liquid assets to enable us to satisfy the 90% distribution requirement, we may not have sufficient cash or other liquid assets to meet this distribution requirement or to distribute a greater amount as may and excise taxation. This may occur because of:

- timing differences between the actual receipt of income and the actual payment of deductible expenses and the inclusion of these expenses in arriving at our taxable income, or
- as a result of nondeductible expenditures, such as principal amortization or capital expenditures, including any reinvestment of our properties, other than in a tax-free exchange, in excess of noncash deductions.

If these timing differences occur, or if our nondeductible expenditures exceed our noncash deductions, we may find it necessary to a possible, pay taxable stock dividends in order to meet the dividend requirement.

Under some circumstances, we may be able to rectify a failure to meet the distribution requirement for a year by paying dividends to may be included in our deduction for dividends paid for the earlier year. It is not possible to state whether in all circumstances we would be entitled to statutory relief.

Taxation of Taxable U.S. Shareholders

As used below, the term "U.S. Shareholder" means a security holder who for United States federal income tax purposes is:

- a citizen or resident of the United States;
- a corporation (or other entity treated as a corporation under U.S. federal income tax purposes) created or organized in or undo
   of any state thereof or in the District of Columbia;
- an estate whose income is subject to United States federal income taxation regardless of its source; or

To the extent that we make a distribution to a U.S. Shareholder in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits, these a tax-free return of capital with respect to the U.S. Shareholder's common shares or preferred shares. This will reduce the U.S. Shareholder's adjusted basis in its shares, the excess portion of the distribution will be taxa realized from the sale of the shares.

The Internal Revenue Service will deem us to have sufficient earnings and profits to treat as a dividend any distribution by us up to distributed in order to avoid imposition of the 4% excise tax discussed above. Moreover, any deficiency dividend will be treated as an of the case may be, regardless of our earnings and profits. As a result, shareholders may be required to treat particular distributions that we return of capital as taxable dividends.

If we make distributions to a shareholder in excess of the U.S. Shareholder's adjusted basis in its common shares or preferred shares been held as a capital asset, the distributions will be taxable as capital gains. If held for more than one year, this gain will be taxable as

Recent guidance from the Internal Revenue Service allows us to satisfy REIT distribution requirements by distributing up to 90% of lieu of paying distributions entirely in cash, as long as certain conditions are satisfied. A shareholder generally must include the sum of the amount of cash received in its gross income as dividend income to the extent that such shareholder's share of the dividend is made to the portion of our current and accumulated earnings and profits allocable to such dividend. The value of any capital shares received as put to the amount of cash that could have been received instead of the capital shares. In the event we pay a portion of a distribution in our capital generally would be required to pay tax on the entire amount of the distribution, including the portion paid in capital shares, and might have other sources. A shareholder who receives capital shares pursuant to a dividend generally has a tax basis in such shares equal to the amount of such shares as described above, and a holding period in such shares that begins on the day following the payment day

If (a) we declare dividends in October, November, or December of any year that are payable to shareholders of record on a specified (b) we actually pay the dividend on or before January 31 of the following calendar year, we will treat such dividends as both paid by us on December 31 of that year. Depreciation Recapture. The maximum tax rate imposed on the long-term capital gains of non-corporate taxpayers is 15%, although imposed on the portion of such gains attributable to the prior depreciation claims in respect of depreciable real property held for more the treated as ordinary "recapture" income under Section 1250 of the Internal Revenue Code. The Secretary of the Treasury has the authoric regulations on how the capital gains rates will apply to sales and exchanges by partnerships and REITs and of interests in partnerships at the Secretary of the Treasury issued regulations relating to the taxation of capital gains in the case of sales and exchanges of interests of trusts, but not of interests in REITs. These regulations apply to transfers that occur on or after September 21, 2000. Accordingly, you are advisors with respect to your capital gain tax liability resulting from a distribution or deemed distribution of capital gains from us and a or common shares, as applicable.

Sale of Securities

U.S. Shareholders who sell or exchange securities will generally recognize gain or loss for federal income tax purposes in an amount the amount of cash and the fair market value of any property received on the sale or exchange and the holder's adjusted basis in the securities were held as a capital asset, then this gain or loss will be capital gain or loss. If the securities were held for more than one year long-term capital gain or loss. However, any loss recognized by a holder on the sale of common shares or preferred shares held for not respect to which capital gains were required to be included in such holder's income will be treated as a long-term capital loss, to the exidistributions from us that were treated as long-term capital gains.

The Treasury Regulations under Section 704(c) of the Internal Revenue Code provide partnerships with a choice of sev book-tax differences for property contributed on or after December 21, 1993, including the retention of the traditional method that was election of particular alternative methods. Camden Operating, L.P. has elected the traditional method of Section 704(c) allocations. Under the least favorable method from our perspective, the carryover basis of contributed interests in the properties in the hands of Camden Obe allocated lower amounts of depreciation deductions for tax purposes than would be allocated to us if such properties were to have a value at the time of the contribution and (b) to be allocated taxable gain in the event of a sale of such contributed interests in our proper book income allocated to us as a result of such sale, with a corresponding benefit to the other partners in Camden Operating, L.P. These us to recognize taxable income in excess of cash proceeds, which might adversely affect our ability to comply with REIT distribution reanticipate that this adverse effect will occur.

Interests in the properties purchased by Camden Operating, L.P., other than in exchange for interests in Camden Operating, L.P., we equal to their fair market value. Thus, Section 704(c) of the Internal Revenue Code generally will not apply to these interests.

Distributions to non-U.S. Shareholgain from sales or exchanges by us of U.S. real property interests and are not designated by us as capital gains dividends will be treated income to the extent that they are made out of our current or accumulated earnings and profits. These distributions ordinarily will be sufficient or preferred shares is treated as effectively connected with the non-U.S. Shareholder's conduct of a U.S. trade or business, the non-U.S. subject to federal income tax at graduated rates, in the same manner as U.S. Shareholders are taxed with respect to these distributions. I Shareholder that is a non-U.S. corporation, the holder may also be subject to the 30% branch profits tax. Distributions in excess of our of and profits will not be taxable to a non-U.S. Shareholder to the extent that these distributions do not exceed the adjusted basis of the not shares or preferred shares, but rather will reduce the adjusted basis of these shares. To the extent that these distributions will give rise to tax Shareholder otherwise would be subject to tax on any gain from the sale or disposition of its common shares or preferred shares.

Distributions Attributable to Gain from the Sale or Exchange of a U.S. Real Property Interest. For any year in which we qualify as a attributable to gain from sales or exchanges by us of U.S. real property interests will be taxed to a non-U.S. Shareholder under the prov. Real Property Tax Act of 1980. Under the Foreign Investment in Real Property Tax Act, distributions attributable to gain from sales of taxed to a non-U.S. Shareholder as if this gain were effectively connected with a U.S. business. Non-U.S. Shareholders thus would be trates applicable to U.S. Shareholders, subject to applicable alternative minimum tax and a special alternative minimum tax in the case of Distributions subject to the Foreign Investment in Real Property Tax Act also may be subject to a 30% branch profits tax in the hands on not entitled to treaty relief or exemption.

The above taxation under the Federal Investment in Real Property Tax Act of distributions attributable to gains from our sales or excinterests (or such gains that are retained and deemed to be distributed) does not apply, provided our common shares are "regularly trade market in the United States (as expected), and the non-U.S. Shareholder does not own more than 5% of the common stock at any time of such amounts will be taxable as a dividend of ordinary income not effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business.

Withholding Obligations from Distributions to Non-U.S. Shareholders. Although tax treaties may reduce our withholding obligation withhold from distributions to non-U.S. Shareholders, and remit to the Internal Revenue Service, (a) 35% of designated capital gain dividends amount of any distributions that could be designated as capital gain dividends and (b) 30% of ordinary dividends paid out of earnings a designate prior distributions as capital gain dividends, subsequent distributions, up to the amount of such prior distributions, will be treat purposes of withholding. A distribution in excess of our earnings and profits will be subject to 30% dividend withholding if at the time determined whether the distribution will be in an amount in excess of our current or accumulated earnings and profits. If we withhold a distribution to a non-U.S. Shareholder in excess of the shareholder's U.S. tax liability with respect to this distribution, the non-U.S. Shareholder secretification procedures regarding withholding and backup withholding on some amounts paid to non-U.S. Shareholders.

State and Local Tax

We and the holders of our securities may be subject to state and local tax in various states and localities, including those in which we property or reside. Our and your tax treatment in these jurisdictions may differ from the federal income tax treatment described above, investor, you should consult your own tax advisors regarding the effect of state and local tax laws on an investment in our debt securities.

Taxation of Tax-Exempt Shareholders

The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that amounts distributed as dividends by a REIT do not constitute unrelated business taxable exempt entity. Based on that ruling, except for the tax-exempt shareholders described below, if a tax-exempt shareholder does not hold property" within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code and the shares are not otherwise used in a trade or business, then dividend i unrelated business taxable income to the tax-exempt shareholder. Generally, shares will be "debt financed property" if the exempt hold shares through a borrowing. Similarly, income from the sale of shares will not constitute unrelated business taxable income unless a tax shares as "debt financed property" within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code or has used the shares in its trade or business.

For tax-exempt shareholders that are social clubs, voluntary employee benefit associations, supplemental unemployment benefit trus plans exempt from federal income taxation under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(7), (c)(9), (c)(17) and (c)(20), respectively, incoming shares will constitute unrelated business taxable income unless the organization is able to properly deduct amounts set aside or placed in as to offset the income generated by its investment in our shares. These prospective investors should consult their own tax advisors con reserve requirements. However, a portion of the dividends paid by a "pension held REIT" will be treated as unrelated business taxable in

- is described in Section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code;
- is tax-exempt under Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code; and
- holds more than 10% by value of the interests in the REIT.

Tax-exempt pension funds that are described in Section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code are referred to below as "qualified trus A REIT is a "pension held REIT" if:

The percentage of any REIT dividend treated as unrelated business taxable income is equal to the ratio of:

- the unrelated business taxable income earned by the REIT less particular associated expenses, treating the REIT as if it were subject to tax on its unrelated business taxable income, to
- the total gross income, less particular associated expenses, of the REIT.

A de minimis exception applies where the percentage is less than 5% for any year. The provisions requiring qualified trusts to treat a unrelated business taxable income will not apply if the REIT is able to satisfy the "not closely held" requirement without relying upon t respect to qualified trusts.
