PRICING SUPPLEMENT No.1741B

Filed Pursuant to Rule 424(b)(2)

Registration Statement No. 333-184193

Dated May 29, 2013

$8,231,000 Deutsche Bank AG Trigger Performance Securities

Linked to the EURO STOXX 50® Index due May 31, 2023

Investment Description

The Trigger Performance Securities (the “Securities”) are unsubordinated and unsecured obligations of Deutsche Bank AG, London Branch (the “Issuer”) with returns linked to the performance of the EURO STOXX 50® Index (the “Index”). If the Index Return is positive, Deutsche Bank AG will repay the Face Amount of the Securities at maturity and pay a return equal to the Index Return multiplied by the Participation Rate of 275.38%. If the Index Return is zero or negative and the Final Level is greater than or equal to the Trigger Level, Deutsche Bank AG will repay the Face Amount of the Securities at maturity. However, if the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level, you will be fully exposed to the negative Index Return and Deutsche Bank AG will pay you less than the Face Amount at maturity, resulting in a loss on the Face Amount to investors that is proportionate to the percentage decline in the level of the Index. Investing in the Securities involves significant risks. You will not receive coupon payments during the 10-year term of the Securities. You may lose some or all of your initial investment. You will not receive dividends or other distributions paid on any stocks included in the Index. The contingent repayment of the Face Amount applies only if you hold the Securities to maturity. Any payment on the Securities, including any repayment of the Face Amount provided at maturity, is subject to the creditworthiness of the Issuer. If the Issuer were to default on its payment obligations, you might not receive any amounts owed to you under the Securities and you could lose your entire investment.

Features

- q Participation in Positive Index Returns: If the Index Return is positive, the Issuer will repay the Face Amount of the Securities at maturity and pay a return equal to the Index Return multiplied by the Participation Rate. If the Index Return is negative, investors may be exposed to the decline in the Index at maturity.
- q Downside Exposure with Contingent Repayment of the Face Amount at Maturity: If the Index Return is zero or negative and the Final Level is greater than or equal to the Trigger Level, the Issuer will repay the Face Amount of the Securities at maturity. However, if the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level, the Issuer will pay less than the Face Amount of the Securities, resulting in a loss on the Face Amount to investors that is proportionate to the percentage decline in the level of the Index. The contingent repayment of the Face Amount applies only if you hold the Securities to maturity. You might lose some or all of your initial investment. Any payment on the Securities is subject to the creditworthiness of the Issuer. If the Issuer were to default on its payment obligations, you may not receive any amounts owed to you under the Securities and you could lose your entire investment.

You should carefully consider, among other things, the matters set forth in “Key Risks” in this pricing supplement and “Risk Factors” in the accompanying product supplement, as the Securities involve risks not associated with conventional debt securities. We urge you to consult your investment, legal, tax, accounting and other advisers before deciding to invest in the Securities.*

Investor Suitability

The suitability considerations identified below are not exhaustive. Whether or not the Securities are a suitable investment for you will depend on your individual circumstances, and you should reach an investment decision only after you and your investment, legal, tax, accounting and other advisors have carefully considered the suitability of an investment in the Securities in light of your particular circumstances. You should also review “Key Risks” on page 4 of this pricing supplement and “Risk Factors” on page 7 of the accompanying product supplement.

The Securities may be suitable for you if, among other considerations:

- “ You fully understand the risks inherent in an investment in the Securities, including the risk of loss of your entire initial investment.

- “ You believe that the level of the Index will increase over the term of the Securities.
- “ You are willing to invest in the Securities based on the Participation Rate indicated on the cover hereof.
- “ You can tolerate fluctuations in the price of the Securities prior to maturity that may be similar to or exceed the downside fluctuations in the level of the Index.

- “ You seek an investment with exposure to companies in the Eurozone.
- “ You are willing and able to hold the Securities, which have a term of approximately 10 years, to maturity, and accept that there may be little or no secondary market for the Securities.
- “ You are willing to assume the credit risk of Deutsche Bank AG for all payments under the Securities, and understand that if Deutsche Bank AG defaults on its obligations you might not receive any amounts due to you, including any repayment of the Face Amount.

The Securities may not be suitable for you if, among other considerations:

- “ You require an investment designed to guarantee a full return of the Face Amount at maturity.

Key Risks

An investment in the Securities involves significant risks. Some of the risks that apply to an investment in the Securities are summarized below, but we urge you to read the more detailed explanation of risks relating to the Securities generally in the “Risk Factors” section of the accompanying product supplement. We also urge you to consult your investment, legal, tax, accounting and other advisers before you invest in the Securities.

- “ Your Investment in the Securities May Result in a Loss — The Securities differ from ordinary debt securities in that Deutsche Bank AG will not necessarily repay the full Face Amount at maturity. The return on the Securities at maturity is linked to the performance of the Index and will depend on whether, and the extent to which, the Index Return is positive or negative and if the Index Return is negative, whether the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level. If the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level, you will be fully exposed to any negative Index Return, and Deutsche Bank AG will pay you less than the full Face Amount at maturity, resulting in a loss on the Face Amount that is proportionate to the percentage decline in the level of the Index. Accordingly, you could lose a significant portion or all of your initial investment if the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level.
- “ Contingent Repayment of Your Initial Investment Applies Only if You Hold the Securities to Maturity — You should be willing to hold your Securities to maturity. If you are able to sell your Securities prior to maturity in the secondary market, you may have to sell them at a loss relative to your initial investment even if the Index level at such time is greater than the Trigger Level at the time of sale. You can receive the full potential benefit of the Trigger Level only if you hold your Securities to maturity.
- “ The Participation Rate Applies Only at Maturity — You should be willing to hold your Securities to maturity. If you are able to sell your Securities prior to maturity in the secondary market, the price you receive will likely not reflect the full effect of the Participation Rate and the return you realize may be less than the Index's return even if such return is positive. You can receive the full benefit of the Participation Rate only if you hold your Securities to maturity.
- “ No Coupon Payments — Deutsche Bank AG will not pay any coupon payments with respect to the Securities.
- “ Risks Relating to the Credit of the Issuer — The Securities are unsubordinated and unsecured obligations of the Issuer, Deutsche Bank AG, and are not, either directly or indirectly, an obligation of any third party. Any payment to be made on the Securities, including any repayment of your initial investment at maturity, depends on the ability of Deutsche Bank AG to satisfy its obligations as they come due. An actual or anticipated downgrade in Deutsche Bank AG's credit rating or increase in the credit spreads charged by the market for taking our credit risk will likely have an adverse effect on the value of the Securities. As a result, the actual and perceived creditworthiness of Deutsche Bank AG will affect the value of the Securities, and in the event Deutsche Bank AG were to default on its obligations, you might not receive any amount owed to you under the terms of the Securities and you could lose your entire investment.
- “ The Securities Are Subject to Non-U.S. Securities Markets Risks — The Index includes component stocks that are issued by non-U.S. companies in non-U.S. securities markets. An investment in securities linked directly or indirectly to the value of securities issued by non-U.S. companies involves particular risks. Generally, non-U.S. securities markets may be more volatile than U.S. securities markets, and market developments may affect non-U.S. markets differently from U.S. securities markets. Direct or indirect government intervention to stabilize these non-U.S. markets, as well as cross shareholdings in non-U.S. companies, may affect trading prices and volumes in those markets. There is generally less publicly available information about non-U.S. companies than about those U.S. companies that are subject to the reporting requirements of the SEC, and non-U.S. companies are subject to accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards and requirements that differ from those applicable to U.S. reporting companies. Securities prices in non-U.S. countries are subject to political, economic, financial and social factors that may be unique to the particular country. These factors, which could negatively affect the non-U.S. securities markets, include the possibility of recent or future changes in the non-U.S. government's economic and fiscal policies, the possible imposition of, or changes in, currency exchange laws or other non-U.S. laws or restrictions applicable to non-U.S. companies or investments in non-U.S. equity securities and the possibility of fluctuations in the rate of exchange between currencies. Moreover, certain aspects of a particular non-U.S. economy may differ favorably or unfavorably from the U.S. economy in important respects, such as growth of gross national product, rate of inflation, capital reinvestment, resources and self-sufficiency. Specifically, the stocks included in the Index are issued by companies located in countries within the Eurozone, some of which are and have been experiencing economic stress. Finally, it will likely be more costly and difficult to enforce the laws or regulations of a non-U.S. country or exchange.
- “ The Index Return Will Not Be Adjusted for Changes in Exchange Rates Relative to the U.S. Dollar — The Index is composed of stocks denominated in foreign currencies. However, the value of your Securities will not be adjusted for exchange rate fluctuations between the U.S. dollar and the currencies in which the stocks composing the Index are based. Therefore, if the applicable currencies appreciate or depreciate relative to the U.S. dollar over the term of the Securities, you will not receive any additional payment or incur any reduction in your return, if any, at maturity.
- “ We Are One of the Companies That Make Up the Index — We are one of the companies that make up the Index. To our knowledge, we are not currently affiliated with any of the other companies the equity securities of which are represented in the Index. As a result, we will have no ability to control the actions of such other companies, including actions that could affect the value of the equity securities underlying the Index, or your securities. None of the other companies represented in the Index will be involved in the offering of the Securities in any way. Neither they nor we will have any obligation to consider your interests as a holder of the Securities in taking any corporate actions that might affect the value of your Securities.
- “ No Dividend Payments or Voting Rights — As a holder of the Securities, you will not have voting rights or rights to receive cash dividends or other distributions or other rights that holders of component stocks underlying the Index would have.
- “ Investing in the Securities Is Not the Same as Investing in the Index or the Stocks Composing the Index — The return on your Securities may not reflect the return you would realize if you were able to invest directly in the Index or the stocks composing the Index.
- “ There May Be Little or No Secondary Market for the Securities — The Securities will not be listed on any securities exchange. Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates intend to offer to purchase the Securities in the secondary market but are not required to do so and may cease such market making activities at any time. Even if there is a secondary market, it may not provide enough liquidity to allow you to trade or sell your Securities easily. Because other dealers are not likely to make a secondary market for the Securities, the price at which you may be able to trade your Securities is likely to depend on the price, if any, at which Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates may be willing to buy the Securities.

Many Economic and Market Factors Will Impact the Value of the Securities — While we expect that, generally, the level of the Index will affect the value of the Securities more than any other single factor, the value of the Securities prior to maturity will also be affected by a number of other factors that may either offset or magnify each other, including:

- the expected volatility of the Index;
- the composition of the Index;
- the market prices and dividend rates on the stocks composing the Index and changes that affect those stocks and their issuers;
- the time remaining to the maturity of the Securities;
- interest rates and yields in the market generally;
- geopolitical conditions and a variety of economic, financial, political and regulatory or judicial events that affect the Index or the markets generally;
- supply and demand for the Securities; and
- our creditworthiness, including actual or anticipated downgrades in our credit ratings.

Because the Securities mature in 2023, their value may decline significantly due to the factors described above even if the level of the Index remains unchanged from the Initial Level, and any sale prior to the Maturity Date could result in a substantial loss to you. You must hold the Securities to maturity to receive the stated payout from the Issuer.

The Securities Have Certain Built-in Costs — While the Payment at Maturity described in this pricing supplement is based on the Face Amount, the Issue Price of the Securities includes the agents' commission, if any, and the estimated cost of hedging our obligations under the Securities through one or more of our affiliates. Such hedging cost includes our or our affiliates' expected cost of providing such hedge, as well as the profit we or our affiliates expect to realize in consideration for assuming the risks inherent in providing such hedge. As a result, the price at which Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates would be willing to purchase Securities from you prior to maturity in secondary market transactions, if at all, will likely be lower than the Issue Price, and any sale prior to the Maturity Date could result in a substantial loss to you. The Securities are not designed to be short-term trading instruments. Accordingly, you should be able and willing to hold your Securities to maturity.

Potential Deutsche Bank AG Impact on Price — Trading or transactions by Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates in the stocks comprising the Index, and/or in futures, over-the-counter options, exchange-traded funds or other instruments with returns linked to the Index or the stocks comprising the Index may adversely affect the market value of the stocks composing the Index, the level of the Index, and, therefore, the value of the Securities.

Trading and Other Transactions by Us or Our Affiliates, or UBS AG or Its Affiliates, in the Equity and Equity Derivative Markets May Impair the Value of the Securities — We or one or more of our affiliates expect to hedge our exposure from the Securities by entering into equity and equity derivative transactions, such as over-the-counter options or exchange-traded instruments. Such trading and hedging activities may affect the Index and make it less likely that you will receive a return on your investment in the Securities. It is possible that we or our affiliates could receive substantial returns from these hedging activities while the value of the Securities declines. We or our affiliates, or UBS AG or its affiliates, may also engage in trading in instruments linked to the Index on a regular basis as part of our general broker-dealer and other businesses, for proprietary accounts, for other accounts under management or to facilitate transactions for customers, including block transactions. We or our affiliates, or UBS AG or its affiliates, may also issue or underwrite other securities or financial or derivative instruments with returns linked or related to the Index. By introducing competing products into the marketplace in this manner, we or our affiliates, or UBS AG or its affiliates, could adversely affect the value of the Securities. Any of the foregoing activities described in this paragraph may reflect trading strategies that differ from, or are in direct opposition to, investors' trading and investment strategies related to the Securities.

Potential Conflict of Interest — Deutsche Bank AG and its affiliates may engage in business with the issuers of the stocks composing the Index, which may present a conflict between the obligations of Deutsche Bank AG and you, as a holder of the Securities. Deutsche Bank AG, as the calculation agent, will determine the Index Return and Payment at Maturity based on closing levels of the Index in the market. The calculation agent can postpone the determination of the Index Return or the Maturity Date if a market disruption event occurs on the Final Valuation Date.

We, Our Affiliates or Agents, or UBS AG or Its Affiliates May Publish Research, Express Opinions or Provide Recommendations That Are Inconsistent with Investing in or Holding the Securities. Any Such Research, Opinions or Recommendations Could Affect the Level of the Index to Which the Securities Are Linked and the Value of the Securities — We, our affiliates and agents, and UBS AG and its affiliates, publish research from time to time on financial markets and other matters that may influence the value of the Securities, or express opinions or provide recommendations that may be inconsistent with purchasing or holding the Securities. We, our affiliates or agents, or UBS AG or its affiliates, may have published research or other opinions that are inconsistent with the investment view implicit in the Securities. Any research, opinions or recommendations expressed by us, our affiliates or agents, or UBS AG or its affiliates, may not be consistent with each other and may be modified from time to time without notice. Investors should make their own independent investigation of the merits of investing in the Securities and the Index to which the Securities are linked.

The U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of an Investment in the Securities Are Uncertain — There is no direct legal authority regarding the proper U.S. federal income tax treatment of the Securities, and we do not plan to request a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS"). Consequently, significant aspects of the tax treatment of the Securities are uncertain, and the IRS or a court might not agree with the treatment of the Securities as prepaid financial contracts that are not debt. If the IRS were successful in asserting an alternative treatment for the Securities, the tax consequences of ownership and disposition of the Securities could be materially and adversely affected. In addition, as described below under "What Are the Tax Consequences of an Investment in the Securities?", in 2007 the U.S. Treasury Department and the IRS released a notice requesting comments on various issues regarding the U.S. federal income tax treatment of "prepaid forward contracts" and similar instruments. Any Treasury regulations or other guidance promulgated after consideration of these issues could materially and adversely affect the tax consequences of an investment in the Securities, possibly with retroactive effect. You should review carefully the section of the accompanying product supplement entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences," and consult your tax adviser regarding the U.S. federal tax consequences of an investment in the Securities (including possible alternative treatments and the issues presented by the 2007 notice), as well as tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local or non-U.S. taxing jurisdiction.

Scenario Analysis and Examples at Maturity

The following table and hypothetical examples below illustrate the Payment at Maturity per $10.00 Security for a hypothetical range of performances for the Index from -100.00% to +100.00% and reflect the Initial Level of 2,786.54, the Trigger Level of 1,393.27 (50.00% of the Initial Level) and the Participation Rate of 275.38%. The hypothetical Payment at Maturity examples set forth below are for illustrative purposes only and may not be the actual returns applicable to a purchaser of the Securities. The actual Payment at Maturity will be determined based on the Final Level on the Final Valuation Date. You should consider carefully whether the Securities are suitable to your investment goals. The numbers appearing in the table below have been rounded for ease of analysis.

Example 1 — The Final Level of 3,065.19 is greater than the Initial Level of 2,786.54, resulting in an Index Return of 10.00%. Because the Index Return is 10.00%, Deutsche Bank AG will pay you a Payment at Maturity of $12.75 per $10.00 Face Amount of Securities (a return of 27.54%), calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} & $10.00 + ($10.00 \times \text{Index Return} \times \text{Participation Rate}) \\ & $10.00 + ($10.00 \times 10.00\% \times 275.38\%) = $12.75 \end{aligned}$$

Example 2 — The Final Level is equal to the Initial Level of 2,786.54. Because the Index Return is zero, Deutsche Bank AG will pay you a Payment at Maturity of $10.00 per $10.00 Face Amount of Securities (a return of 0.00%).

Example 3 — The Final Level of 2,507.89 is less than the Initial Level of 2,786.54, resulting in an Index Return of -10.00%. Because the Index Return is negative and the Final Level is greater than the Trigger Level, Deutsche Bank AG will pay you a Payment at Maturity of $10.00 per $10.00 Face Amount of Securities (a return of 0.00%).

Example 4 — The Final Level of 835.96 is less than the Initial Level of 2,786.54, resulting in an Index Return of -70.00%. Because the Index Return is negative and the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level, Deutsche Bank AG will pay you a Payment at Maturity of $3.00 per $10.00 Face Amount of Securities (a return of -70.00%), calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} & $10.00 + ($10.00 \times \text{Index Return}) \\ & $10.00 + ($10.00 \times -70.00\%) = $3.00 \end{aligned}$$

If the Final Level is less than the Trigger Level, you will be fully exposed to any negative Index Return, resulting in a loss on the Face Amount that is proportionate to the percentage decline in the level of the Index. Under these circumstances, you will lose a significant portion or all of the Face Amount at maturity. Any payment on the Securities, including any repayment of the Face Amount at maturity, is subject to the creditworthiness of the Issuer and if the Issuer were to default on its payment obligations, you could lose your entire investment.

What Are the Tax Consequences of an Investment in the Securities?

In the opinion of our special tax counsel, Davis Polk & Wardwell LLP, which is based on prevailing market conditions, it is more likely than not that the Securities will be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as prepaid financial contracts that are not debt. If this treatment is respected, (i) you should not recognize taxable income or loss prior to the taxable disposition of your Securities (including at maturity) and (ii) your gain or loss on the Securities should be capital gain or loss and should be long-term capital gain or loss if you have held the Securities for more than one year. The IRS or a court might not agree with this treatment, however, in which case the timing and character of income or loss on your Securities could be materially and adversely affected.

In 2007, the U.S. Treasury Department and the IRS released a notice requesting comments on various issues regarding the U.S. federal income tax treatment of "prepaid forward contracts" and similar instruments. The notice focuses in particular on whether beneficial owners of these instruments should be required to accrue income over the term of their investment. It also asks for comments on a number of related topics, including the character of income or loss with respect to these instruments; the relevance of factors such as the nature of the underlying property to which the instruments are linked; the degree, if any, to which income (including any mandated accruals) realized by non-U.S. persons should be subject to withholding tax; and whether these instruments are or should be subject to the "constructive ownership" regime, which very generally can operate to recharacterize certain long-term capital gain as ordinary income and impose a notional interest charge. While the notice requests comments on appropriate transition rules and effective dates, any Treasury regulations or other guidance promulgated after consideration of these issues could materially and adversely affect the tax consequences of an investment in the Securities, possibly with retroactive effect.

You should review carefully the section of the accompanying product supplement entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences." The preceding discussion, when read in combination with that section, constitutes the full opinion of our special tax counsel regarding the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of owning and disposing of the Securities.

Under current law, the United Kingdom will not impose withholding tax on payments made with respect to the Securities.

For a discussion of certain German tax considerations relating to the Securities, you should refer to the section in the accompanying prospectus supplement entitled "Taxation by Germany of Non-Resident Holders."

You should consult your tax adviser regarding the U.S. federal tax consequences of an investment in the Securities (including possible alternative treatments and the issues presented by the 2007 notice), as well as tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local or non-U.S. taxing jurisdiction.
