Israel is a foreign sovereign state and accordingly it may be difficult to obtain or enforce judgments against it.

Israel is a sovereign state. Although Israel has waived its sovereign immunity in respect of the bonds, except for its sovereign immunity arising out of or based on United States federal or state securities laws, enforcement in the event of a default may nevertheless be impractical political or other considerations.

Because Israel has not waived its sovereign immunity in connection with any action arising out of or based on United States federal o possible to obtain a United States judgment against Israel based on such laws unless a court were to determine that Israel is not entitled unde Immunities Act of 1976, as amended, to sovereign immunity with respect to such actions.

The current global economic climate and continued economic disruption in Europe may have an adverse effect on Israel's economy.

Israel's economy is affected by current global economic conditions, including regional and international rates of economic growth. Restemming most recently from the sovereign debt crisis in Europe, have led to increased market volatility, decreased consumer confidence and activity generally. The potential impact of such global economic pressure on Israel is uncertain. Although Israel's economy has shown moder since the global financial crisis, there can be no assurance that Israel's economy will continue to grow in a prolonged negative global economy.

As a result of the sovereign debt crisis in Europe, there has been significant price volatility in the secondary market for sovereign debt such price volatility continues or worsens, it could lead to a decline in the recoverability and value of the market price of Israel's debt secur ongoing concerns about the sovereign debt crisis in Europe, as well as the possible default by, or exit from the Eurozone of, one or more Europe the Europe one or more successor currencies, could have a detrimental impact on the global economy, thereby adversely affecting Israel's en addition, the continued stagnation or decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in economic growth of the European Union, which is one of Israel's major trading partners, could lead to a decline in the recoverable to the experimental lead to the

The successful development of Israel's natural gas reserves involves certain risks that may make expected natural gas production level

There are numerous uncertainties associated with estimating quantities of natural gas reserves and projecting future rates of production recover from its natural gas fields. These items are, in part, dependent on the reliability of seismic measurement technologies, the future interpotence of the energy substitutes, as well as future development and operating costs, all of which may in fact vary considerably from Israel's current at tax revenues. Moreover, certain of Israel's neighboring countries have asserted mineral rights with respect to certain natural gas reserves to failure to meet expected natural gas production targets on the forecasted timelines, or at all, could have a negative impact on Israel's progres revenues that will be received by the State of Israel.

Israel will use the net proceeds from the sale of the bonds offered hereby, estimated to be US$1,976,245,000 after deducting underwroffering expenses payable by Israel, for the general purposes of the State.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

The following summary is qualified in its entirety by, and should be read in conjunction with, the more detailed information appearing in contained in Exhibit D to the Annual Report of the State of Israel on Form 18-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2011 (including a certain tables may differ from the sum of the individual items in such tables due to rounding. Unless otherwise specified, amounts in NIS without adjustment for inflation. Figures in this section are as of January 24, 2013, except as otherwise indicated.

Economic Developments

During the first three quarters of 2012, the Israeli economy experienced moderate gross domestic product ("GDP") growth of approximanual terms). According to the preliminary estimates of the Central Bureau of Statistics, the annual growth rate for 2012 is anticipated to be the Bank of Israel and the Economic Research Department at the Ministry of Finance. For 2013, the Bank of Israel predicts growth of approximately 3.5%. The higher growth predicted for 2013 is mainly attributable to an increase in the domestic grow at a rate of 4.6%. Although there was relatively high growth in the first and second quarters of 2011 (4.6% and 3.7%, respectively), growth of 2011 and during 2012. In the first, second and third quarters of 2012, GDP increased at an annual rate of 2.9%, 3.1% and 2.9%, respectively third and fourth quarters of 2011, respectively. Business sector product (calculated as GDP less certain general government services, services) experienced moderate growth in the second, third and fourth quarters of 2011 (2.4%, 3.9% and 3%, respectively) and the first quarter of 2011. The relatively lower rates of growth commencing through the third quarter of 2012 can be attributed to the deterioration in Europe's fiscal condition and the high levels of economic uncertaint

The budget deficit in 2012 amounted to 4.2% of GDP, exceeding the target budget deficit ceiling of 2% of GDP. The higher than target attributable to a shortfall in tax revenues compared to the 2012 tax revenues forecast, which was prepared in mid-2010 and approved at the 1.6% at year end, within the target range of 1% to 3%. Inflation in 2013 is expected to be close to the middle of the aforementioned target range depreciated in 2011 and 2012, after having appreciated in 2009 and 2010.

During 2012, there was no change in Israel's foreign currency credit rating from Moody's Investor Services, and Standard & Poor's a Israel's existing credit rating.

Israel's economy continues to be affected by current global economic conditions, including the stability of the Eurozone and the abilit continue to service their sovereign debt obligations and maintain liquidity with respect to their public finances. Since late 2009, several EuroSpain, Italy, Ireland, Portugal and France, have experienced rising national debt levels coupled with the downgrade of the credit ratings of the has been significant price volatility in the secondary market for sovereign debt of European and other nations. As of early January 2013, there market for sovereign debt, in part due to the actions of the European Central Bank. However, if the price volatility in the secondary market for it could lead to a decline in the recoverability and value of the market price of Israeli government bonds, which would have a material adverse condition. Additionally, speculation regarding the inability of Greece and certain other Eurozone governments to pay their national debt, the mitigate the sovereign debt crisis and the concerns regarding the stability of the Euro currency have created uncertainty in global credit mark recovery. Although Israel's economy has shown moderate rates of growth throughout the global financial crisis, there can be no assurance the grow in a prolonged negative global economic climate. Risks and ongoing concerns about the sovereign debt crisis in Europe, as well as the Eurozone of, one or more European states and/or the replacement of the Euro by one or more successor currencies, could have a detrimental adversely affecting Israel's economy, financial condition and credit. In addition, the continued stagnation or decline in economic growth of the one of Israel's major trade partners, could have a material adverse impact on Israel's balance of trade and adversely affect Israel's financial

Balance of Payments and Foreign Trade

After a decade of high surplus in the current account, Israel experienced a current account deficit commencing in the fourth quarter of 2012. According to the preliminary estimates of the Economic Research Department at the Ministry of Finance based on data from the Centra account deficit for 2012 is expected to be 0.6% of GDP. In the third quarter of 2012, Israel once again recorded a surplus in the current account surplus of 0.5% of GDP, lower than the unusually high surplus in the preceding two years (3.7% and 3.9% of GDP in 2009 and 2010 2011 was driven by a substantial expansion in imports of goods and services. This rise in imports reflects a sharp increase in the cost of enerise in all categories of imports, including consumption goods, raw materials and investment goods. The steep increase in imports resulted in 2011, in comparison with a net-export surplus of $4.9 billion in 2010. Compared to 2010, exports of goods and services increased in 2011 to 2012, exports decreased by 0.9% in the first quarter, but increased significantly during the second quarter, by 16.8%; in the third quarter, expin annual terms, compared with the previous quarter). The significant rise in export levels in the second quarter of 2012 is attributable in part its refurbished plant in Kiryat-Gat. The decrease in export levels in the third quarter of 2012 is attributable to a decline in exports of service of the year.

In the first half of 2012, Israel had a current account deficit of $2 billion, compared with surpluses of $1.4 billion and $5.1 billion du respectively. In the first quarter of 2012, the current account deficit was $1.3 billion, the highest quarterly current account deficit since the th of the global recession that followed the bursting of the high-tech bubble. The deficit during the first quarter of 2012 was driven by a large deperiod, as imports of goods rose significantly while exports of goods declined. In the second quarter of 2012, there was a small deficit of $0 and a decrease in imports during the same period. #### Political Situation

The State of Israel was established in 1948. Israel is a parliamentary democracy, with governmental powers divided among separate branches. Israel has no formal written constitution, but rather, a number of basic laws that were granted special status by the Israeli Supreme jurisprudence is also reflected in judicial decisions and in the State's Declaration of Independence. The President of Israel is the head of state apolitical, figurehead role, with the real executive power lying in the hands of the Prime Minister. The legislative power of the State resides parliament that consists of 120 members elected by universal suffrage under a system of proportional representation.

In 2005, Israel implemented a unilateral disengagement from Gaza, pursuant to which the State dismantled and evicted all Israeli composed towns in the northern West Bank and all of its military personnel in those areas. In the summer of 2006, Israel was engaged in a war with Hest Lebanon. After the Israeli disengagement from Gaza, Hamas, a terror organization, assumed administrative control over the Gaza Strip. In Defiring into Israel an increasing number of rockets from Gaza, Israel commenced operation Cast Lead in the Gaza Strip with the goal of suppression January 2009, contributing to relative calm from 2009 and into 2011. From 2011 and into 2012, Hamas resumed and substantial Gaza, including for the first time using rockets that have the capability of reaching Tel Aviv and Jerusalem. In response, in November 2012, Defense, a military campaign against targets in the Gaza Strip. Operation Pillar of Defense lasted eight days. Neither operation Cast Lead no material effect on the Israeli economy. Since 2009, the Israeli-Palestinian peace process has been at a standstill — a situation that continued Palestinian side accept basic conditions set out by the "International Middle East Quartet" (i.e., the United Kingdom, EU, United States, and exist as a sovereign nation; renouncing terrorism against Israel; and the acceptance of previous Palestinian commitments. Although Israel has without preconditions with Palestinian partners who accept the Quartet's conditions, Hamas has refused to do so.

On September 23, 2011, the Palestinian Authority filed an application for membership with the United Nations. On November 29, 20 Palestinian Authority's status in the United Nations from a "non-member observer entity" to a "non-member observer state."

Since January 2011, there has been political instability and civil disobedience, termed the Arab Spring, in numerous Middle East and Bahrain, Libya, Egypt, Iran, Tunisia, Yemen and Syria. The Arab Spring has ousted long-standing leadership in several of the aforementioned political situations in others. As Israel is situated in the center of this region, it closely monitors these events, aiming to protect its economic, Israel is hopeful that these developments will lead to increased freedom and opportunity for the citizens of its neighboring countries, it remains the region. The delicate relations between Israel and its neighbors have become even more fragile with the change in regimes. While such in and North Africa region have not so far materially affected Israel's financial or political situation, there can be no assurance that such instability will not spread to additional countries in the Middle East and North Africa region, that governments in the Midble successful in maintaining domestic order and stability, or that Israel's economic or political situation will not thereby be affected.

The outcome of regime change in Egypt and the ongoing turmoil in Syria remains uncertain. Since the signing of the Camp David According to Israel's national security. Following the ousting of Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, the relationship between Egypt and political power of the Muslim Brotherhood as evidenced by the recent victory of the Egyptian presidential election by Mohamed Morsi, a Madversely affect the long-standing peaceful relationship between the two countries. Egypt's suspension in May 2012 of the blockade that rest along the Egypt-Gaza border, as well as the increased instances of violence including rocket fire from the Sinai side of the border, may be serelationship. However, as of the end of 2012, Israel did not perceive a material change in the strategic stance of Egypt, as the peace treaty be force.

While the government of Egypt has changed, the framework for ongoing security contacts between the two countries continued to be utilized. ambassador of Egypt to Israel, Ambassador Atef Salem, presented his credentials to President Shimon Peres. However, in November 2012, Ambassador was called to Cairo for consultations. As of the end of 2012, the weakening of the Assad regime in Syria was perceived as dim emanating from the Syrian armed forces. Nevertheless, Israel remains vigilant regarding the security challenges posed by its shared border was called to Cairo for consultations.

Fundamentalist regimes, such as Iran's, present a deep concern for the international community and especially for states in the region. prospect of a nuclear Iran has been at the center of both domestic and international geopolitical discourse. The implementation of strict international with widespread international denouncement of Iranian nuclear ambitions, serve as evidence that the United States, EU and other values Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has publicly stated that Israel aims to achieve a peaceful resolution to the situation; however, all options nuclear weapons remain on the table.

In June 2011, a number of small protests began over issues relating to living standards, initially in response to the rising prices of Isra cheese, and quickly spreading to a variety of related issues, such as the decline in doctors' wages, which lead to a national doctors' strike. I large scale protests ensued over housing and food costs, government services and the cost of living for the middle class. These large-scale p backing and culminated in the largest demonstration in the country's history, with over 400,000 participants. Protest marches in Tel Aviv wer encampment along the popular Rothschild Boulevard, a trend that spread to other cities in Israel. To address the protestors' grievances, in A appointed the Trajtenberg Committee to examine Israel's socioeconomic issues and propose measures to improve living standards. The Trajtenberg that the Government's goal of maintain spending increases are offset by additional revenue-raising measures. Since October 2011, many of these recommendations have been adopted of recommendations regarding tax policy and competitive markets having been introduced into law in December 2011.

In the first half of 2012, the exponential growth of Israel's refugee population originating from sub-Saharan African countries, primari significant domestic political issue. These refugee groups began coming to Israel following the 2005 Egyptian police attacks on Sudanese reinitially granted protection to those who sought refuge in Israel. However, Israel soon became a primary destination for such groups, due to favailability of jobs, prompting thousands of additional illegal immigrants and asylum seekers to cross the Sinai Desert from Egypt and seek a continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month, the Government implemented a deportation policy designed to continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month, the Government implemented a deportation policy designed to continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month, the Government implemented and deportation policy designed to continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month, the Government implemented and deportation policy designed to continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month, the Government implemented and deportation policy designed to continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month, the Government implemented and deportation policy designed to continuous influx of approximately one thousand such refugees each month.

In recent years, there has been increasing controversy in Israel regarding the Tal Law, which permits ultra-orthodox (haredi) Jews to service on account of their status as full-time yeshiva students. The law, which required renewal by the Knesset every five years, was up for February 21, 2012, Israel's High Court of Justice held the Tal Law unconstitutional on the grounds that it placed a heavier share of society's population.

On May 7, 2012, in order to extend the Tal Law for at least six months, proponents of the law put forth a measure to dissolve the curre elections. The following day, Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and opposition leader Knesset member Shaul Mofaz announced that Mofa Netanyahu's Likud party and form a national unity government. The new coalition consisted of 94 out of the 120 Knesset members.

In May 2012, the Committee for Equality in the Burden of Military Service in Israel was established to formulate an alternative to the member Yohanan Plesner, the committee was created under the coalition agreement of the national unity government between Likud and Kadi resignation of three committee members, Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu announced the committee's dissolution, stating that it would no its recommendations in the Knesset. However, on July 4, 2012, Knesset member Plesner published a report, which was followed by negotiat implementation of the report's conclusions. On July 17, 2012, after the parties failed to reach a compromise on the issues underlying the Tal coalition. The surviving coalition did, however, maintain its majority of seats, having returned to its original composition preceding Kadima

Since the expiration of the Tal Law on August 1, 2012, mandatory military recruitment technically applies to haredi Jews. According authority to determine who is to be recruited rests with the IDF. While the IDF is currently preparing a general recruitment plan for haredi Jebegun.

In response to concerns regarding the ability of the coalition to pass a budget for 2013 by the beginning of the fiscal year, Prime Ministriate early elections, announcing on October 9, 2012 that early elections would be held in January 2013. On October 16, 2012, the Knesse dissolution of the Knesset and set January 22, 2013 as the election date. In accordance with Israeli law, seven days after the publication of election obligated to select a Knesset member to form a new government, which must be formed within 28 days (with the possibility of a 14 day extendance) a budget must be approved within 45 days. Accordingly, it is anticipated that the 2013 budget will be approved approximately three the elections. Until such budget is passed, Israeli law provides that only 1/12th of the previous year's budget may be allocated per month. The until the approval of 2013 budget by the Knesset, the Accountant General will allocate for use on a monthly basis 1/12th (8.33%) of the amount of the previous year's budget may be allocated per month.

As of January 23, 2013, according to preliminary election results accounting for approximately 99% of the votes cast, the Likud party votes, amounting to 31 seats in the Knesset. The Yesh Atid party, led by former journalist Yair Lapid, is in second place, with 19 seats in the in third place, with 15 seats in the Knesset. The HaBayit HaYehudi party is in fourth place, with 12 seats in the Knesset, and the Shas party is Knesset. It is anticipated that the final election results will be published by January 29, 2013 and that President Shimon Peres will assign the Benjamin Netanyahu.

Privatization

Historically, the Government has been involved in nearly all sectors of the Israeli economy. In the past several decades, privatization broader market reforms initiated by the Government aiming to promote the growth of the private sector, mainly by enhancing competition. Isr recent years, resulting in the privatization of many enterprises owned by the State and the reduction of State subsidization of business enterprises government companies became partially or fully-private. The proceeds stemming from these privatizations totaled $14.2 billion. In 2010, NIS 4.5 billion, partly as a result of the privatization of the State's interest in two of the five major banks in Israel — Israel's entire remaining and 5% proceeds of Israel's stake in Bank Leumi Le-Israel Ltd. Currently, the Government holds approximately 6.03% of Bank Leumi's outs continue with the process of privatizing its interest in financial institutions, as well as State-owned land, seaports, and parts of the defense in

Loan Guarantee Program

In 1992, the United States approved up to $10 billion of loan guarantees during U.S. fiscal years 1993 through 1998 to help Israel absperiod. Israel completed its financings under this program in January 1998. In April 2003, the United States approved up to $9 billion in add issued during U.S. government fiscal years 2003 through 2005, with an option to extend the program by an additional year. In 2005, the United extend the $9 billion program for two more years, and in 2006, this program was extended again through U.S. fiscal year 2011 (with an option amounts for an additional year). The amount of guarantees that may be issued to Israel under the loan guarantee program may be reduced by a corestimated to have been extended by Israel for activities that the President of the United States determines are inconsistent with the objective between the United States and Israel regarding the implementation of the loan guarantee program. Under the program, the United States issued payments of principal and interest on certain bonds issued by Israel. The proceeds of the guaranteed loans may be used to refinance existing guarantee program, between September 2003 and November 2004, Israel issued guaranteed notes totaling $4.1 billion face value. Israel has guarantee program since November 2004, and up to $3.8 billion of U.S. loan guarantees (subject to the reductions described above) remains program was approved by the U.S. House of Representatives on July 17, 2012 and signed into law by President Obama on July 27, 2012. DTC was created to hold securities for its participants and facilitate the clearance and settlement of securities transactions between it electronic book-entry changes in the accounts of its direct participants, eliminating the need for physical movement of securities certificates. the Depository Trust & Clearing Corporation ("DTCC"). DTCC is the holding company for DTC, National Securities Clearing Corporation Corporation, all of which are registered clearing agencies. DTCC is owned by the users of its regulated subsidiaries.

The foregoing information about DTC has been provided to Israel by DTC for informational purposes only and is not a representation any kind.

Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg

Like DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg hold securities for their participants and facilitate the clearance and settle between their participants through electronic book-entry changes in their accounts. Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg provide including the safekeeping, administration, clearance and settlement and lending and borrowing of internationally traded securities. Euroclear participants are financial institutions such as the underwriters of this offering, securities brokers and dealers, banks, trust companies and other participants in Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg. Other banks, brokers, dealers and trust companies have indirect access to Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg participants.

Ownership of Bonds Through DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg

Israel will issue the bonds in the form of a fully registered book-entry security, registered in the name of Cede & Co., a nominee of D' direct and indirect participants in DTC, will represent your beneficial interests in the book-entry security. These financial institutions will reyour beneficial interests through book-entry accounts.

You may hold your beneficial interests in the book-entry security through Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg if you are a jindirectly through organizations that are participants in such systems. Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg will hold their participants book-entry security in their customers' securities accounts with their depositaries.

DTC may grant proxies or authorize its participants (or persons holding beneficial interests in the bonds through such participants) to any other actions that a holder is entitled to take under the fiscal agency agreement or the bonds. Euroclear's or Clearstream Banking Luxembholder under the bonds or the fiscal agency agreement will be limited by the ability of their respective depositaries to carry out such actions Clearstream Banking Luxembourg will take such actions only in accordance with their respective rules and procedures.

The fiscal agent will not charge you any fees for the bonds, other than reasonable fees for the replacement of lost, stolen, mutilated or incur fees for the maintenance and operation of the book-entry accounts with the clearing systems in which your beneficial interests are held.

The laws of some states require certain purchasers of securities to take physical delivery of the securities in definitive form. These labeneficial interests in the bonds to such purchasers. DTC can act only on behalf of its direct participants, who in turn act on behalf of indirect your ability to pledge a beneficial interest in the bonds to persons that do not participate in the DTC system, and to take other actions, may be a physical certificate that represents your interest.

Transfers Within and Between DTC, Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg

Trading Between DTC Purchasers and Sellers

DTC participants will transfer interests in the bonds among themselves in the ordinary way according to DTC rules. DTC participant transfer.

Trading Between Euroclear and/or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg Participants

Participants in Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg will transfer interests in the bonds among themselves in the ordinary operating procedures of Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg.

Trading Between a DTC Seller and a Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg Purchaser

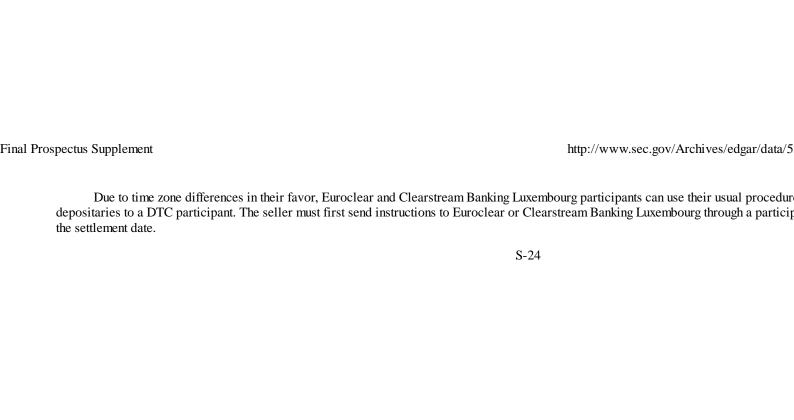

When the bonds are to be transferred from the account of a DTC participant to the account of a Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg through a participant at least one business day prior to the settle Banking Luxembourg will then instruct its depositary to receive the bonds and make payment for them. On the settlement date, the depositary participant's account and the bonds will be credited to the depositary's account. After settlement has been completed, DTC will credit the bonds and make payment for them. On the settlement date, the depositary participant's account and the bonds will be credited to the depositary's account. After settlement has been completed, DTC will credit the Banking Luxembourg, Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg will credit the bonds, in accordance with its usual procedures, to the participant will then credit the purchaser's account. These securities credits will appear the next day (European time) after the settlement date Clearstream Banking Luxembourg's account will be back-valued to the value date (which will be the preceding day if settlement occurs in N completed on the intended value date (i.e., the trade fails), the cash debit will instead be valued at the actual settlement date.

Participants in Euroclear and Clearstream Banking Luxembourg will need to make funds available to Euroclear or Clearstream Banking bonds by wire transfer on the value date. The most direct way of doing this is to pre-position funds (i.e., have funds in place at Euroclear or before the value date), either from cash on hand or existing lines of credit. Under this approach, however, participants may take on credit exp Banking Luxembourg until the bonds are credited to their accounts one day later.

As an alternative, if Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg has extended a line of credit to a participant, the participant may allow Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg to draw on the line of credit to finance settlement for the bonds. Under this procedure, Luxembourg would charge the participant overdraft charges for one day, assuming that the overdraft would be cleared when the bonds were defined to the bonds would accrue from the value date. Therefore, in many cases the interest income on bonds which the participant will substantially reduce or offset the amount of the participant's overdraft charges. Of course, this result will depend on the cost of funds (i. Clearstream Banking Luxembourg charges) to each participant.

Since the settlement will occur during New York business hours, a DTC participant selling an interest in the bonds can use its usual p depositaries of Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg for the benefit of Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg participants proceeds on the settlement date. Thus, to the DTC seller, a cross-market sale will settle no differently than a trade between two DTC participants.

Trading Between a Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg Seller and DTC Purchaser

Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg will then instruct its depositary to credit the bonds to the DTC participant's account and rece credited in the account of the Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg participant on the following day, but the receipt of the cash product (which will be the preceding day if the settlement occurs in New York). If settlement is not completed on the intended value date (i.e., the proceeds will instead be valued at the actual settlement date.

If the Euroclear or Clearstream Banking Luxembourg participant selling the bonds has a line of credit with Euroclear or Clearstream I in debt for the bonds until it receives the sale proceeds in its account, then the back-valuation may substantially reduce or offset any overdraft over that one-day period.

Banking Luxembourg accountholder should note that these trades will automatically fail on the sale side unless affirmative action is taken, in

Taxation by Israel; Additional Amounts

Israel will make all payments of principal and interest in respect of the debt securities free and clear of, and without withholding or disposed by or within Israel, unless required by law. In that event, Israel will pay additional amounts so that the holders of the debt securities would have been received by them had no withholding or deduction been required. Israel will not be required to pay any additional amount tholder is liable to pay such taxes in respect of debt securities because the holder has some connection with Israel other than the mere holding principal and interest. Any holder who wants to receive these additional amounts would have to present the debt security for payment within 30 days of when payment is due. If the fiscal agent has not received the full amount of the date, then any holder who wants to receive the additional amounts would have until 30 days after the date that the holders have been notified money to present the debt security for payment. If no additional amount would be payable on a debt security presented for payment on the 30th any holder presenting that debt security for payment after the 30th day will only be entitled to the payment due, but not to any additional amount until Israel has paid to the fiscal agent the amount of the payment due.

Any reference to "principal" or "interest" on the debt securities includes any additional amounts which may be payable on those debt
