New Global Instrument intended to be held in a manner which would allow Eurosystem eligibility:

No. Whilst the designation is specified as "no" at the date of these Final Terms, should the Eurosystem eligibility criteria be amended in the future such that the Instruments are capable of meeting them, the Instruments may then be deposited with one of the ICSDs as common safekeeper. Note that this does not necessarily mean that the Instruments will then be recognised as eligible collateral for Eurosystem monetary policy and intra day credit operations by the Eurosystem at any time during their life. Such recognition will depend upon the ECB being satisfied that Eurosystem eligibility criteria have been met.

SUMMARY OF THE ISSUE

This summary relates to USD 50,000,000 Zero Coupon Callable Instruments due 2043 described in the final terms (the "Final Terms") to which this summary is annexed. This summary contains that information from the summary set out in the Base Prospectus which is relevant to the Instruments together with the relevant information from the Final Terms. Words and expressions defined in the Final Terms and the Base Prospectus have the same meaning in this summary.

Section A – Introduction and Warnings
A.1	Introduction:	Warning that: • this summary should be read as an introduction to the Base Prospectus; • any decision to invest in the Instruments should be based on consideration of the Base Prospectus as a whole by the investor; • where a claim relating to the information contained in the Base Prospectus is brought before a court, the plaintiff investor might, under the national legislation of the Member States, have to bear the costs of translating the Base Prospectus before the legal proceedings are initiated; and • civil liability attaches only to SEK, but only if the summary, including any translation thereof, is misleading, inaccurate or inconsistent when read together with the other parts of the Base Prospectus or it does not provide, when read together with the other parts of the Base Prospectus, key information in order to aid investors when considering whether to invest in such Instruments.
A.2	Consent:	Not Applicable

Section B – Issuer
B.1	Legal name of the issuer: Commercial name of the issuer:	AB Svensk Exportkredit SEK
B.2	Domicile, legal form, legislation and country of incorporation of SEK:	SEK is incorporated as a public company with limited liability in the Kingdom of Sweden under the Swedish Companies Act. SEK has its registered office in Stockholm, the Kingdom of Sweden.
B.4b	Trends:	In recent years, SEK has focused primarily on lending to the Swedish export industry in response to the great demand for reliable financing during the financial crisis. SEK's role as a long-term lender has grown stronger and its effort to broaden its customer base is continuing. SEK's financial performance is affected by borrower and counterparty credit quality and general economic conditions. To some extent, changes in interest rates, foreign exchange rates and other market factors also affect SEK's business. Operational risks, such as fraud, errors by employees, failure to document transactions properly or to obtain proper internal authorisation and equipment failures are inherent in SEK's businesses. SEK's business is subject to regulation and regulatory oversight. Any significant regulatory developments could have an effect on how SEK conducts its business and on SEK's results of operations. SEK matches lending and borrowing and, therefore, takes no refinancing risk. Despite the turmoil and turbulence that have characterised the financial markets over the last years, SEK has had good access to the major capital markets. SEK believes that the new regulations for the financial sector will reduce the willingness of the banks to provide long-term loans which might impair companies' access to financing and, accordingly, increase the importance of the Swedish export credit system and the role that SEK plays. Emerging economies, especially in the Asian region, are continuing their strong development, with increasing purchasing power and increasingly modern and developed infrastructure. The Swedish export industry is largely focused on infrastructure, telecoms, energy supply, transport and environmental technology — all areas that are enjoying strong demand in emerging economies. Access to financing is often the deciding factor in whether or not an export deal goes ahead. SEK has certain limited exposures towards countries in Europe which have been under economic pressure. SEK has not, however, deemed it necessary to make any write-downs related to these exposures.

B.5	The Group:	SEK is the parent company of a group comprising its wholly-owned subsidiaries AB SEK Securities, SEK Financial Advisors AB, SEK Financial Services AB, SEK Customer Finance AB, SEK Exportlånet AB and Venantius AB, including the latter's wholly owned subsidiary VF Finans AB (together, the "Group").

		macroeconomic factors and similar future disruptions or global recessions may reduce the Group's ability to repay its debt. • Exposure to credit risk of borrowers and other counterparties – Risks arising from credit quality of borrowers and counterparties and the recoverability of loans and amounts are inherent in SEK's business and may be exacerbated by the recent macroeconomic conditions. • Errors in financial reporting and deficiencies in internal control over financial reporting and disclosure processes could cause investors to lose confidence in reported results – Failure to report financial and non-financial data accurately and in compliance with external standards, due to deficiencies in the Group's internal controls, could result in regulatory action, legal liability and damage to SEK's reputation. • Reduced access to capital markets or less favourable financing terms could have an impact on profitability and ability to fulfil obligations – SEK is dependent on the international capital markets, which have seen reduced appetite and liquidity and increased competition for financing in recent times. Funding may also become more expensive. • Negative changes in value of assets and liabilities and other losses due to volatile and illiquid market conditions – Macroeconomic conditions have made it difficult to value certain of SEK's assets and liabilities. These valuations could decline due to general market conditions. • Hedging strategies may not prevent losses – The Group's hedging instruments and strategies may prove to be ineffective. There is no guarantee of the ability of SEK to hedge risks in an efficient manner, or at all. • Fluctuations in currency exchange rates could harm business – Changes in currency exchange rates may have an impact on the Group's financial resources and its business. • SEK's income and business – Competition with a large number of institutions offering a wider array of products or better pricing or greater financial resources may have a significant negative impact on the business. • Significant operational risks – Failure to address operational risks may lead to additional costs and losses. • Adverse effect of changes in laws and regulations and of developments in emerging markets – SEK is subject to laws, regulations, administrative actions and policies which may place financial and operational restraints. Implementation of regulations in the future may result in write-off or conversion into equity of the Instruments. Increasing exposure to emerging markets can also have an impact on the business of the Group. • Impact of natural disasters, political unrest and other factors – Natural disasters, political unrest and other factors may have an impact on the business of SEK.
