You should read this Pricing Supplement together with Freddie Mac’s Global Debt Facility Offering Circular, dated February 14, 2019 (the “Offering Circular”), and all documents that are incorporated by reference in the Offering Circular, which contain important detailed information about the Medium-Term Notes and Freddie Mac. See “Additional Information” in the Offering Circular. Capitalized terms used in this Pricing Supplement have the meanings we gave them in the Offering Circular, unless we specify otherwise.

The Medium-Term Notes may not be suitable investments for you. You should not purchase the Medium-Term Notes unless you understand and are able to bear the yield, market, liquidity and other possible risks associated with the Medium-Term Notes. You should read and evaluate the discussion of risk factors (especially those risk factors that may be particularly relevant to this security) that appears in the Offering Circular under “Risk Factors” before purchasing any of the Medium-Term Notes.

The Medium-Term Notes, including any interest or return of discount on the Medium-Term Notes, are not guaranteed by and are not debts or obligations of the United States or any federal agency or instrumentality other than Freddie Mac.

DESCRIPTION OF THE MEDIUM-TERM NOTES

Applicable Interest Rate Index:	SOFR
Reset Dates:	Daily; provided that in respect of any Interest Payment Period, the period beginning one (1) U.S. Government Securities Business Days prior to an Interest Payment Date shall be a suspension period. During a suspension period, SOFR for each day during that suspension period will be SOFR published on the day immediately prior to the first day of such suspension period.
Spread:	Plus 13 basis points (+0.13 percentage points)
Interest Rate:	SOFR, as adjusted by the applicable Spread above, subject to the minimum interest rate of the Floor. The Interest Rate will be adjusted on each Reset Date to reflect SOFR on such Reset Date; provided, however, that if the rate at which interest accrues on any day declines to zero or becomes negative, no interest will be payable on the Medium-Term Notes in respect of that day.
Floor:	0.00%
Day Count Convention:	Actual/360 with no adjustment for period end dates
Payment of Interest:	Quarterly, in arrears, on the 5th day of February, May, August, and November (each such date, an "Interest Payment Date"), commencing November 5, 2019

Risk Factors

The Offering Circular and this Pricing Supplement do not describe all of the risks and other ramifications of an investment in the Medium-Term Notes. An investment in the Medium-Term Notes entails significant risks not associated with an investment in a conventional fixed rate or floating rate debt security. See "Risk Factors" generally and "Various Factors Could Adversely Affect the Trading Value and Yield of Your Debt Securities" in the Offering Circular. Investors should consult their own financial and legal advisors about the risks associated with an investment in the Medium-Term Notes and the suitability of investing in the Medium-Term Notes in light of their particular circumstances, and possible scenarios for economic, interest rate and other factors that may affect their investment.

The secondary market for, and the market value of, the Medium-Term Notes will be affected by a number of factors independent of the creditworthiness of Freddie Mac, including the level and direction of interest rates, the variable rate of interest payable on the Medium-Term Notes, the anticipated level and potential volatility of SOFR, the method of calculating SOFR, the time remaining to the maturity of the Medium-Term Notes, the aggregate principal amount of the Medium-Term Notes and the availability of comparable instruments. The level of SOFR depends on a number of interrelated factors, including economic, financial and political events, over which Freddie Mac has no control. The following table, showing the level of the Secured Overnight Funding Rate in effect for the dates listed below, illustrates the variability of that rate:

Historical Levels of the Secured Overnight Funding Rate

The New York Federal Reserve Bank began to publish the Secured Overnight Funding Rate in April 2018. Investors should not rely on any historical changes or trends in the Secured Overnight Funding Rate as an indicator of the future performance of SOFR during the term of the Medium-Term Notes. Fluctuations in the level of the Secured Overnight Funding Rate make the interest rates that apply to the Medium-Term Notes difficult to predict and can result in actual interest rates to investors that are lower than anticipated. In addition, historical interest rates are not necessarily indicative of future interest rates. Fluctuations in interest rates and interest rate trends that have occurred in the past are not necessarily indicative of fluctuations that may occur in the future, which may be wider or narrower than those that have occurred historically. No assurance can be given that the Interest Rate will be above the Floor on any day of any Interest Payment Period during the term of the Medium-Term Notes. We obtained the information in the graph above from Bloomberg Financial Markets, without independent verification.

Investors should have the financial status and, either alone or with a financial advisor, the knowledge and experience in financial and business matters sufficient to evaluate the merits and to bear the risks of investing in variable rate Medium-Term Notes in light of each investor's particular circumstances. See "Risk Factors - The Debt Securities May Not Be Suitable For You" and " - Various Factors Could Adversely Affect the Trading Value and Yield of Your Debt Securities - Variable Rate Debt Securities" in the Offering Circular. Prospective investors also should consult their own tax and legal advisors as to the tax consequences of holding, owning and disposing of the Medium-Term Notes. See "Certain United States Federal Tax Consequences" in the Offering Circular.
